

MASTER OF SCIENCE IN LEADERSHIP, MANAGEMENT AND ORGANIZATION DEVELOPMENT

Bringing the whole person to the art and science of leadership and management

Program Summary

Duration
 12 courses over
 21 months

Student-Teacher Ratio
 8:1

Location
 Seattle, WA

Instructional Delivery
 In-Person
 12 Residencies

Heritage
 First offered in 1973
 Over 2000 alumni

Format
 Cohort-based experiential
 Learning model

LIOS delivers excellence in experiential education. This program helps leaders and consultants at all levels and in all industries learn to utilize their own strengths and unique presence to bring about significant change in any work environment. It is specifically designed to help participants gain the skills and knowledge necessary to support and accelerate organizational business strategy and goal achievement.

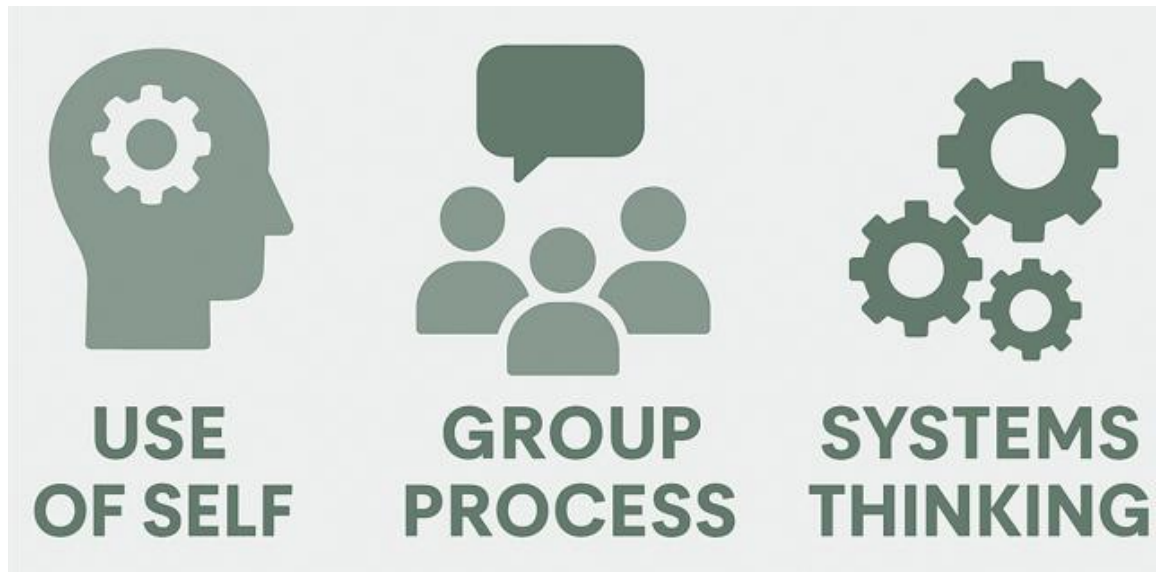

THIS PROGRAM IS DESIGNED FOR:

- Senior executives
- Managers
- High potential employees
- Union officials
- Change agents (internal and external)
- OD practitioners and coaches
- Non-profit leaders
- Anyone who wants to increase their capacity to influence and lead

Regardless of role, graduates build deep expertise and make a difference ...

“By using systems thinking and putting the right organization and routines in place, we were able to solve problems for good and prevent the constant cycle of “whack-a-mole” type issues.”

GRADUATES MASTER THREE CORE AREAS

THIS PROGRAM

Graduates learn practical skills they can use immediately in their work environment. Become proficient in implementing advanced methods to:

- ✓ Develop learning cultures within their organizations
- ✓ Apply systemic thinking to workplace issues
- ✓ Lead large-scale change interventions tied to measurable goals
- ✓ Creatively managing conflict
- ✓ Lead teams toward higher productivity while maintaining a humane working environment
- ✓ Balance management authority with employee involvement.
- ✓ Manage projects and other cross-functional work
- ✓ Coach individuals to develop their full capacity and to effectively resolve problems
- ✓ Collaborate improving on-the-job work processes
- ✓ Create effective groups
- ✓ Apply a wide range of process consulting interventions

We develop organizational leaders who are highly skilled in bringing their whole persons to the art and science of managing and developing employees, resolving complex organizational problems, and bringing alignment to work systems. Transform your future today!

Application Deadlines:

Application submittal | July 15, 2026

Course start date | August 17, 2026

In-person residency start date | September 13, 2026

To view the curriculum, visit LIOS.org/masters